AUTOMOBILES GALORE

The Parade Reached Lexington About Noon.

The western contingent of the automobile parade bound for Columbia to dedicate the Cross-State Highway, reached Lexington about noon yesterday. The cars were banked on the south side of Main street between Tenth and Eleventh, and the visitors invited into the court house where each one was handed a lunch box and a cup of hot coffee. It is not recorded that anyone refused. The ride from Kansas City in the brisk October air gave the members of the party an appetite that they had not enjoyed for a long time. Everyone was feeling fine and the hour passed quickly.

Among the first to arrive was Governor Herbert S. Hadley. He came with a bound and was soon surrounded with fried chicken, sandwiches and a steaming cup of hot coffee. He seemed as happy as a school boy, and enjoyed the exchange of pleasantries with friends and acquaintances until led to the upper court room where he made a short address.

Among the other celebrities in the party was Mayor Brown of Kansas City, the members of the county court of Jackson county, T. J. Hedrick, a member of the State Board of Agriculture, et al.

Mayor Brown of Kansas City, conducted the band in one selection, after which he was called upon for a speech. He responded very gracefully thanking the people of Lexington for their hospitality and pledged the support of Kansas City in making the state highway one of the greatest thoroughfares in existence.

The parade started promptly at one o'clock and in a few minutes every car had departed.

E. J. McGrew piloted the party from here, and with him was Oswald Winkler, W. B. Waddell, H. F. Blackwell and J. G. Graddy.

The other cars going from here were: J. C. McGrew, Jr.'s and Leslie Hopkins'. The former had with him E. N. Hopkins, H. C. Wallace and Jas. R. Moorehead. The latter, Sam Barnett, M. C. McFadin, C. L. Glascock and L. C. Wilson.

There were thirty-two cars in the procession.

Miss Rowell's Recital.

An unusually large audience greeted Miss Rowell Monday night when she appeared for the first time in an evening of readings. Miss Rowell's work was of the highest order. Her impersonations were realistic and no doubt the best seen in Lexington in a long time. She held her audience closely from the beginning, and was called back after each number. The spontaneity of the applause proving that her talent was appreciated.

Miss Rowell was assisted in the evening's entertainment by Miss Mary Aull, violiniste. Miss Aull is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Aull, and is without doubt one of the most promising young performers on a violin in Missouri. Her playing Monday night was a revelation to those who had never heard her. She plays with confidence and gets a tone that would do justice to one of mature age.

Miss Bess Johnson returned Wednesday to her home in Kansas City after a few days' visit here with relatives and friends.

Football Game a Tie.

The football game between Wentworth and Missouri Wesleyan College on the academy campus Friday afternoon resulted in a 5 to 5 score. The Methodists had a strong backfield but did not show the form that local dopists were expecting from them. They started off in the first quarter with a rush and had scored a touchdown before Wentworth was aware that the game was on. In the second quarter Sunderland for Wentworth made a forty yard run around the end for a touchdown. In the last half, the ball was kept constantly in the preachers territory but Wentworth was unable to score. Several attempts at drop kicks failed. A large crowd saw the game.

Death of Alexander Logan.

Alexander Logan, for the past twenty years chief operator at the Union Depot at Kansas City, died Tuesday afternoon at his home. Mr. Logan was born and raised in Lafayette County and was in his forty sixth year. He was a universally popular man and his death is regretted by a large circle of friends. Mr. Logan was a half brother of John and George Logan of near this city and a nephew of J. C. Young, Sr. The funeral was held in Kansas City Wednesday afternoon and the body brought to Lexington Thursday morning for burial.

Jas. R. Moorehead Honored.

J. R. Moorehead returned from Chicago Friday where he had been on attendance upon a meeting of retail merchants, representing some twenty lines of trade, from thirty-six states and the Dominion of Canada. The delegates present, numbering some hundred and fifty, represented retail merchants association, containing more than 212,000 members.

The objects of the association which is to be called the National Federation of Retail Merchants, is to safeguard and serve the interests of all retail merchants; oppose all unjust legislation; promote all legislation designed for the benefit of and demonstrate the necessity of retail merchants to manufacturers, wholesalers and consumers of the country. Mr. Moorehead was elected permanent secretary of the new organization and will open headquarters here in Lexington, for the conduct of its affairs.

Reception at Lexington College.

President and Mrs. Fowler, Vice President and Mrs. Stringfield, the faculty and young ladies of Lexington College entertained a number of their friends at a reception Monday evening in the halls and parlors of the college. The evening was spent delightfully with informal conversation. There were profuse decorations, mostly of college banners, pillows and pennants.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and Smith's orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Minnie Moore, who teaches the Hicklin school near Lexington, came out last Friday evening to stay over Sunday with her homefolks.

C. A. Keith and Warren Sherman were out from Lexington last Wednesday on professional business in Judge Puckett's court.

Dr. W. D. Barclay of Odessa, was here on business last Wednesday.

Thomas Patterson, a respected citizen, died at his home in Mayview, October 25, 1911. Age 64 years. He had been in bad health for some time. He had been a citizen of our town for many years, coming here from Canada. His wife, who is left alone, will miss him as the days go by. Rev. Downing conducted the funeral services from the Baptist church last Thursday at 10 o'clock. Interment was in the Mt. Hebron cemetery. Our sympathy goes out to the wife and relatives.

Thos. Lockhart and wife of Odessa, spent last Sunday here with friends.

The "Blue Book Route" is still on the map. Do not fail to travel it when you come to town.

Football Saturday.

The athletic director of Wentworth has scheduled a football game for Saturday afternoon that promises to be an extremely interesting one. The Garfield Athletic Club of Kansas City will come here and play the Wentworth third team. The Garfield club is composed of High School students who are unable to play under their school colors as football is under the ban in the Kansas City schools. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and the admission will be 15 cents.

Lexington on the Football Map.

While such gridiron heroes as C. A. Keith, H. C. Ardinger and J. W. Sydnor have passed into the background and their glorious deeds with the "pigskin" are almost forgotten, however, Lexington is still represented in the Eastern and Western football circles, by some of the younger generation.

In the game Saturday between West Point and Yale, in which the Army was victorious, Ben Hoge, who is now going through his second year at West Point, held down an end through out the whole game, and football papers class him as one of the fastest ends the Army has ever had.

Edwin Roberts, known in the football world as "Q" Roberts, now occupies the position of quarter-back on the Missouri University "Tigers" and ran the team in the game against Ames Saturday. Roberts was a brilliant player when with Wentworth.

He has worked hard for a place on the University team and will no doubt run the varsity the remainder of the season. Sanford Sellers, Jr., is a regular in the machine of Alonzo Stagg at Chicago University. Sellers would have been a regular last year but was taken sick and forced to quit the game. He is a strong man in the line and will probably take care of the right guard position for Chicago for the remaining of the season.

Gillen's Stove Sale.

During the past week a demonstration and test of the Majestic Range, was held at Albert Gillen's hardware store. A. L. Ritter representing the Majestic Manufacturing Co., of St. Louis, and an experienced demonstrator was in charge. Throughout the week demonstrations of quick and thorough baking were made and hot coffee and biscuit were served. The result of the exhibit was the sale of twenty majestic ranges with the probability of a good many more going in a short while.
